copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this section.

The president is back in Washington and "feeling lolly." Bally!

Position of the seasons; old winter shuttling out of the lap of spring.

Vermont's latest in jody in the town of Hartford has all the earmarks of the Boston brand.

They are preparing for much sickness in Burlington, having granted thirteen liquor licenses to druggists.

If plots were eggs then St. Petersburg would be hatching out enough daily to stock a good-sized grocery store.

Faster than ten miles an hour is prima facie evidence of careless and negligent driving, let the motorists remember.

This is the season when a hunted-looking person wearing a cage about his head and shin pads on his stomach wanders out into the open to receive epithets and brickbats. Recognize him?

The Newport man charged with killing his wife is to be taken to the state insane asylum for examination. Nowdays prisoners on this charge are considered insane until they are proven sane. Then they are theoretically innocent until proven guilty.

The trial of the "brokerage" case of G. H. Raymond vs. C. H. Gilligan in Washington county court and the awarding of a verdict of $5,625, to the plaintiff, to recover money held in a fiduciary capacity, ought in itself to be a sufficient warning to people to "invest their money at home." If money must be "buried," it is far better to bury it in a home cemetery.

The Barre Times observes that "it has been demonstrated time and again, and it was demonstrated again in Montpelier this last week, that there is not a city or town in the state so well equipped with hotels that it can cope with all emergencies." Now the question arises—what would Barre have done with a crowd of that size—Montpelier Journal.

While not given to boasting over Barre's hotel accommodations we venture to say that the city could afford them chairs to sleep in, which was all that Montpelier did for a part of its patronage.

WOOD VS. GRANITE PAYMENTS.
Granite block pavement long regarded as the best material for that purpose is giving way in some cities to other materials, notably wood.

The city of Springfield in Massachusetts is experimenting with wood for paving purposes, laying it in place of granite. The chief superiority of wood to granite lies in its smoothness for travel and comparatively noiselessness, while it is also claimed in some sources that it wears as good as granite. That granite is rough and that traffic over it produces a great deal of noise must be admitted by all who have had occasion to travel over it or conduct business next to it.

It is, however, an extremely durable road. When the granite pavement was laid in this city four or five years ago the assertion was made that it would serve its purpose for twenty to thirty years, and the appearance of it at the present time, after several years of extra hard wear, leads one to believe that the early assertion will be proven true. There has been no trouble whatever with the condition of the stretch of pavement on Main street and at that it has received practically no care except that afforded by cleaning. Its surface is as level as when first laid, there being no depressions such as are soon worn in concrete or asphalt. That it is noisy admits of no doubt as the business men along the street will tell you. As for its smoothness, it certainly compares favorably with the general run of roads hereabouts. Whether wood would stand the wear put on Barre streets is doubtful. Concrete certainly did not, and it is to be doubted if asphalt would. Granite does stand the strain and thus proves its worth, albeit there are certain minor drawbacks.

SHE'S FOR BAND CONCERTS.

A Barre Mother Wants City Fathers to Take Up the Idea.

Editor of Times: Kindly allow me a small space to express my approval of a letter written a week or so ago regarding band concerts. I think the idea a very good one and I hope every mother and father who love their children will not let this drop. They are just going to have their summer vacation. And we well know circumstances will prevent a large majority from leaving the city. And if the mothers are like the writer they will also enjoy it. I am a mother of four children. The cheapest place I can take them to is Montpelier to hear the band. And the car fare for the five of us costs me one dollar to hear one concert. And the inconvenience of getting a seat besides. I would like to see other mothers and the Women's Federation, who have done so much, also the men, interest themselves, and pray our city fathers to give us a little amusement for the short time we can get outdoors.

Yours for the benefit of all,
A Mother.

Have Complaint to Make.

To the Editor of The Times:—Will you please allow me a little space in your paper, as I am a resident of this city. Where are the health officer and police? Are they doing their duty? Go over to Brooklyn street and see the dumps that the city team carry over there from the Main street. Why does not the health officer look after it? It is a good place for diphtheria to rage. And why do not the police look after the Branch street boys throwing stones and tin cans down onto residents of Brooklyn street. The people of Brooklyn street like to see a clean street as well as Main street, and oblige.

A resident of the city.

JINGLES AND JESTS

The Lordly Housemaid.

"And do you have to be called in the morning?" asked the lady who was about to engage a new girl.
"I don't have to be, mum," replied the applicant "unless you happen to need me!"—Yonkers Statesman.

Real Color.

Patience—And her color—isn't that artificial?
Patience—Oh, no; that's real paint!—Yonkers Statesman.

The Most Attentive.

A certain bishop, as he was going about his diocese, asked the porter of a lunatic asylum how a chaplain whom he, the bishop, had lately appointed was getting on.
"Oh, my lord," said the man, "his preaching is most successful. The idiots here enjoy it particularly."—Tit-Bits.

She Will Not Testify.

"But," said the lawyer, "your case seems hopeless. I don't see what I can do for you. You admit that you beat your wife."
"Yes," replied the defendant, "but my wife's testimony will discount that. She'd never admit that she was beaten."—Catholic Standard and Times.

After the Honeymoon.

"This love that makes the world go round. A saying old and true.
But, oh, if love would only make
The money go round too."
—Detroit Tribune.

Dangerous.

"Would you call her plain in face?"
"Yes, but not to it."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

At Secondhand.

I asked her for a tiny kiss.
She blushed, and then she gave it.
But as she kissed her poodle first
Somehow I didn't crave it.
—Die Moines Register.

Conclusive.

"Do you regard this prevalence of high prices as a sign of prosperity?"
"Certainly," answered Mr. Dustin Stax.
"The fact that people can afford to pay them is a conclusive sign of prosperity."—Washington Star.

MONTPELIER

Fred E. Steele, Jr., who recently graduated from the Baltimore Medical college, stood 12th in a class of 127, received the degree of M. D. cum laude, and an appointment as clinical pathologist in the Maryland General hospital, which is connected with the Baltimore Medical college.

Chief Justice denied yesterday the report that Edward Wright, the printer, who cleared out the quarters of his room-mates recently had been located in Montreal and would be brought back. The police are after him and are in hopes of getting him, but he has not yet been placed under arrest. Extradition papers will be secured in Washington as soon as he is found.

James Burke appeared in city court yesterday and entered a plea of guilty to a second offense of intoxication. A fine of $15 and costs was assessed and he was remanded to county jail for 65 days. It is reported that Burke became so happy on Wednesday evening that he felt constrained to enter the domicile of Mrs. Ella Carbo on Court street Wednesday evening and raised a general rough house. Officer Connolly was called and escorted the festive Burke to jail where his spirits fell rapidly.

Harry C. Nutt, son of the late Col. H. C. Nutt, formerly of this city, has been appointed general manager of the western lines of the Northern Pacific railroad and will be in charge of the operation and management of all the lines of that company in Washington, Idaho and Oregon, at a salary of $20,000 a year. For the past two years Mr. Nutt has been general superintendent of the Michigan Central, and before that was division superintendent of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad. His headquarters will be in Tacoma, Wash.

Children in Pliny's Day.

It was not a modern American writer who, discussing the children, wrote of them thus: "How many are there who will give place to a man out of respect to his age and dignity? They are shrewd men already and know everything. They are in awe of nobody, but take themselves for their own example." These were the words of Pliny the younger used in one of his famous letters during the first Christian century, but they will strongly apply to much of the young America of today.

England.

England means "Angle" and "land," or the land of the Angles. It was not until A. D. 829 that the name was given, by Egbert, first king of the English. The English were not the original inhabitants of the country to which they gave their name. A Celtic people known as Britons first possessed the island, from which they were driven by the English in 449.

Horseshoeing.

Horseshoeing is very ancient. It is represented on a coin of Tarentum, south Italy, about 300 B. C. Iron and bronze horseshoes have been found in tumuli in France, Germany, Belgium and England.
